OAK WIDESCREEN TELEVISION CABINET

Proudly handmade at our workshops in Suffolk, England

A classical Welsh food cupboard with ogee-shaped fielded panels, circa 1760 adapted for use as a widescreen television cabinet, capable of accommodating a 42" plasma screen. The fine Oak doors have "dummy" brass "H" hinges and are hung on pivot fittings which allow the doors to fold back at the ends. Excellent storage is achieved by the provision of four elegant drawers below. The top doors are fitted with special brass locks and escutcheon plates.
